The performance data quoted represents past performance which may not be a reliable guide to further performance. 30-day yield is based upon dividends per share from net investment income during the past 30 days, divided by the fund's maximum offering price per share at the end of the month and annualized based on the number of days in the month.

The TER is the total cost borne by a fund; it includes management, administration, custody, audit and legal fees and is expressed as a percentage of the fund's total size

*S&P rates specific issues on a scale from A-1 to D. S&P believes that, with an A-1 rating, the obligor's capacity to meet its financial commitment on the obligation is strong. Within the A-1 category it can be designated with a plus sign (+). This indicates that the issuer's commitment to meet its obligation is very strong.

Past performance is not a guide to future performance. The value of investments and the income from them is not guaranteed and can fall as well as rise due to stock market and currency movements. When you sell your investment you may get back less than you originally invested. No warranty is given as to the accuracy or completeness of this information and no liability is accepted for errors or omissions in such information. This document should not be published in hard copy, electronic form, via the web or in any other medium accessible to the public, unless authorised by BAML to do so. The fund's share price will fluctuate, which means you could lose money by investing in the fund. Bond funds are subject generally to interest rate, credit, liquidity, call, and market risks, to varying degrees, all of which are more fully described in the fund's prospectus. Prices of fixed-income securities tend to move inversely with changes in interest rates. Typically, a rise in rates will adversely affect prices of fixed income securities and, accordingly, the fund's share price. The value of the fund's assets may be affected by uncertainties such as international political developments, changes in government policies, changes in taxation, restrictions on foreign investment and currency repatriation, currency fluctuations and other developments in the laws and regulations of countries in which investments may be made. Currency fluctuations between foreign currencies and the base currency of the fund may adversely affect the value of an investment in the fund.

S&P Fund ratings are not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold the shares of a fund. The 'AAAF' rating means the fund's portfolio holdings should provide extremely strong protection against losses from credit defaults. The 'S1+' volatility rating indicates that the fund should have extremely low sensitivity to changing market conditions. Funds rated 'S1+' possess an aggregate level of risk that is less than or equal to that of a portfolio comprised of the highest-quality fixed income instruments with an average maturity of one year or less. To maintain current and accurate ratings, S&P monitors the portfolio holdings monthly. More information is available at www.standardsandpoors.com/ratings.
